

What We Do

Left Brain's ultimate goal is to take the guess work out of interactive marketing and integrating organizing by allowing you to start where you are, get what you need, and add or subtract services as you go.

Web Design

From simple billboards in space to complex Web 2.0 applications and ecommerce sites, Left Brain has you covered.

Application Development

Using Joomla and our skilled development crew, we can often shave tens of thousands of dollars and months off your project delivery time frame.

Organizational Systems Design

With our broad experience helping organizations function more effectively, we can help you find ways of operating more effectively, generate more revenue and have a system in place.

Strategic Planning Plus

We can help your organization develop a strategic plan from facilitating retreats to implementing collaborative management systems.
